

Mr. Andrey Kuleshov specializes in applied mathematics, economics and finance. He has over 20 years experience in technology, agriculture, global value chains, impact investing. He is currently heading Strategy and Development at the Common Fund for Commodities (Amsterdam) and advising the Centre for AI Science and Technology at the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology (Moscow). His current research interests include international regulation, standardization of AI, ethics, robustness of AI. Previously he worked at Oxford Economics (Oxford) and the House of Commons (London). He holds an MSc in Economics from the London School of Economics and Political Science (1994) and a Masters' in applied mathematics from the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology (1989).